

Jay Goldinger's Investing Webinar

Do you wish your recent investment portfolio performance was positive? Did you show a profit in 2008 or did your broker/manager tell you that because you lost less than the S&P (-38%) you should be happy? Do you show a profit every year in your retirement account?

This event is for those with an IRA, 401(k) or other retirement vehicles, as well as experienced short term traders and long term investors.

The entire two hours will be devoted to teaching you how to become a better investor that creates steady profits each year with manageable risk. Specific examples from the past will be reviewed, as well as real time forecasts given that will be instructive to everyone no matter the time frame of your investments.

I will teach you how to run your investment portfolio like a business with specific risk and reward parameters and how to calculate them ahead of time.

Webinar
August 12, 2009 at 6PM Pacific Time
